

. . . join a real conversation on climate change . . .

Climate change has become the pre-eminent issue that all of us face. Many questions remain unanswered and new and deep conversations are now urgently needed. The world community needs to agree about how we address this urgent issue. The time for just arguing is over.

what is the world doing? the UN's Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen from 7 to 18 December is a further opportunity for the world's leaders to move towards a viable outcome. The question is: are they representing the views of the common person – how will your views be represented?

And if you had the opportunity, what would you say?

what is our burning question?

What do you want the Prime Minister and Senator Wong to say on your behalf at the forthcoming UN Climate Change Conference?

who we are inviting to this conversation? we welcome people who have a passion to join in a discussion and who will take personal responsibility to participate fully. We particularly welcome young people who, more than anyone, will bear the long term consequences of the actions we take now.

where? The Chapel, Australian Centre for Christianity and Culture, on the corner of Kings Avenue and Blackall Street, Barton.

when? 28 November from 0930 until 1630. Registration from 0900.

catering? we will provide morning and afternoon tea and lunch what is the cost? for individuals in the government and corporate sectors - $100.

for those in the community sector - $75.
concessions - $50. These prices do not include 10% GST.
Please let us know if these fees cause a problem.

who are your hosts? john donovan, principal, workshop777; aart groothuis, principal, telling the story; and deirdre downie, director, Insight Now. Three individuals who specialise in creating the space for powerful conversations:

... conversations that really address the important question

... conversations that result in clear and powerful answers

... conversations where everyone gets involved

... conversations that continue until they are truly done.

As discussion hosts we will create the space where everyone has the opportunity to be heard. All of us will have the opportunity to express our thoughts and feelings in an environment where it is appropriate to do so. We will also lead the creation of a harvest of what we have discovered and agreed and quickly prepare a document that we will provide by email to all participants and the Parliament.

how to enrol? please complete the attached registration form and send it to workshop777@bigpond.com and we will issue an invoice with payment instructions.

further information? please contact mail@tellingthestory.net or Aart Groothuis on 0419 42 68 80. John Donovan can be reached on workshop777@bigpond.com or on 0419 69 89 84.

. . . registration form . . .

Name: _____

Address: _____

Category: corporate/government, community, concession.
(Please delete those that don't apply.)

Email address: _____

Phone number (optional): _____

Do you require and invoice? (Y/N) _____

Would you like to stay on our mailing list for future events? (Y/N) _____

Questionnaire

Your completion of the following four questions will assist us design the detail of the activities on the day.

1. What has attracted you to this conversation?

2. What are your personal outcomes for the day?

3. Do you have a professional interest in the climate change debate?

4. With whom will you share your learnings from the day?

Registrations close 19 November 2009. Late registrations may be accepted if there are vacancies.

Privacy notice. Whether you choose to stay on our mailing list for future events or not, we will use your email address to send the day's harvest and provide any feedback from this event. We won't share your details with anyone else.

If you choose to stay on our mailing list, we will only use it to advise you of future events that may interest you.